Gives Summary Of Defense Effort

Polgreen Describes Blackout Preparations

A general summary of the activities in Andover pertaining to civilian defense was given over a Lawrence radio station Monday night by Atty. Alan T. Polgreen, local defense chairman. He expressed himself as stating that more than 600 people have signed enrollment blanks and become actively engaged in one of several activities.

He promised that, by next week, a class of 110 will have graduated from the Air Raid Warden school conducted by Chief Warden Leonard F. James, and will be ready to organize and train workers in every part of town. Forty-five persons, he said, have already signed up for work as auxiliary firemen, and 60 auxiliary policemen are attending special classes.

Speaking of the new report center recently established in the Peabody House at Phillips Academy, Atty. Polgreen stated that the new location is being manned 24 hours a day, by trained wardens, as is the case with the aircraft warning tower at Jenkin's farm. About 150 people are engaged in this work, he said, a number that should be increased by at least a hundred more volunteers.

Collect 500 Books For Servicemen

More than 500 books have already been received locally for the National Victory Book Campaign, according to this week's announcement by Miss Miriam Putnam, chairman for Andover. So far, the selection of books given has been excellent, so that few titles have had to be discarded as unsuitable. While no quota has been set for this town, the central committee wishes to collect a minimum of 1000 books, and even more if possible.

Additional collection centers have been set up at the following places: Shawsheen Pharmacy, Shawsheen post office, Village Book Shop, Shawsheen Home Bakery, Ballardvale post office, and all the public schools.

While the Victory Book campaign is not requesting gifts of magazines, the American Merchant Marine Library has indicated that it can use any of the following titles, issued during the past 18 months: American, Atlantic, Colliers, Cosmopolitan, Esquire, Fortune, Harper's,

Nearly 150 Serve As Plane Spotters

About 145 local people are serving as aircraft spotters, all through the day and night and every day of the week, at the observation post maintained by the local American Legion post on Ballardvale road. The Legion does not have a complete list of the observers, since some have served regularly at their posts but have not as yet signed the enrollment blanks required for final registration. In spite of the large number already co-operating with the Legion, more workers are urgently needed, since all the watches are not yet fully manned, and a good number of reserves is highly desirable.

In charge of the post are: Harold N. Wood, chief observer, and Gordon R. Cannon, Arthur K. Jenkins, Carl N. Lindsay, Kenneth Minard, Margaret H. McFarlin, Edgar Northam, Joseph Remmes, deputy observers.

Those who have signed up, and are on active duty at the observation state, are:

Morgan Exhibit Shown At Abbot

Currently on exhibition at the John Esther Art Gallery at Abbot Academy is a collection of 28 oil paintings executed on canvas by Patrick Morgan, instructor in art at the Addison Gallery of Phillips Academy. It is remarkable enough that a town as large as Andover can boast a one-man exhibit of this kind; it is still more remarkable that all the paintings in the collection should be of a high order of craftsmanship.

This, naturally, is not Mr. Morgan's first show. He has held others in Boston and New York, and his work is exhibited at the Metropolitan Museum in New York and in the Hartford Athenaeum. Three of the paintings in the present exhibit are on loan from private collections.

The 28 paintings represent seven years of work on his part. They range from landscapes to portraits, with religious themes and abstractions well represented. No attempt has been made to give a central theme to the show, and the perceptible stylistic trends vary from the

Three Local Churches Hold Annual Meetings This Week

New Candidates For Town Offices

Several new candidates have announced their intentions to run for office in the annual March elections. Candidates for the two vacancies on the Board of Public Works are Jesse Bottomley, 41 School street, agent of the Shawsheen mills; Fred W. Doyle, Chandler road, contractor; George Cairns of George street, proprietor of a trucking firm; and William B. Collins of Park street, a Public Works employee for many years.

Stafford A. Lindsay of 6 Argyle street recently announced his candidacy for the one-year unexpired term as selectman and assessor. Edward P. Hall and William Snyder have previously announced their intentions to run for the same office, while Selectman Roy E. Hardy is the only candidate announced as yet for his own expiring term.

Winsor Gale, 118 Main street, is a candidate for trustee of Memorial Hall library, James C. Sawyer, secretary of the board, having recently announced his resignation. Nathan C. Hamblin will stand for reelection to the board.

Candidates for re-election to the other town offices are: Frederick Butler, moderator; George H. Winslow, town clerk; Harold T. Houston, Arthur R. Lewis, and Mrs. Julie S. Musk, school committee; Franklin H. Stacey, board of health; Sidney P. White, planning board and board of survey; George R. Abbott, tree warden; George A. Dane, George N. Sparks and J. Lewis Smith, constables.

Amend By-Laws At Merrimack Meeting

The By-Laws of the Merrimack and Cambridge Fire Insurance companies were amended, at their annual meeting Monday, to permit them to issue policies without assessment liability in accordance with the recent law enacted by the state legislature. It was reported, by President Burton S. Flagg, that the companies had transacted the largest volume of business in their history during 1941.

At the meetings, held in the home office building in Shawsheen, Abbott Stevens of North Andover and Edward C. Nichols of Andover were re-elected directors of the Merrimack Mutual company for a term

Progress in all departments, and an unusually favorable outlook for the coming year, were reported at the annual meetings of three local Protestant churches held this week. The Christ church meeting took place Monday evening in the vestry, while both the South and Free churches held their meetings last night.

Christ Church

Monday evening, despite the extremely inclement weather, about 100 members of Christ church met in the parish house. Supper was served at 6:30, and the meeting was called to order at 7:45 by Kenneth S. Minard, clerk. Rev. John S. Moses, rector, was elected moderator and presided during the rest of the meeting.

C. Carlton Kimball, treasurer of the parish, presented his annual report, after which statements outlining work accomplished during the past year, were read by the president or secretary of each organization. Rev. Mr. Moses read a telegram of greeting from the rector, Rev. Albert C. Morris, who is now serving as a chaplain at Fort Dupont in Delaware. The meeting voted unanimously to send a message of affection and appreciation to Rev. Mr. Morris.

Dogs To Be Inoculated Against Rabies Epidemic

The board of health has been notified that the board of selectmen has placed a restraint order of 90 days beginning January 21, on all dogs not inoculated against rabies during the past 6 months. Such dogs must be restrained by their owners or keepers to their own premises, or must be kept on leash when off these premises. All dogs running at large shall be seized and their owners or keepers penalized, unless they can produce a certificate, signed by a registered veterinarian, certifying that an inoculation has taken place during the past twelve months.

This action was taken at the request of the state department of health, due to the increasing number of cases of rabies in nearby communities. The board of health has arranged with Dr. R. R. Moulthrop to hold a free clinic for dogs in the Central fire station on Saturday, January 31, between the hours of 9 and 12. Dogs inoculated last spring need not be brought to the clinic.

Derry Man Elected To Direct Schools

Edgar I. Erickson, superintendent of schools in New Hampshire's Union District 10, was elected by the school committee, at a special meeting last Thursday evening, to act as superintendent during the leave of absence granted Kenneth L. Sherman. Eugene V. Lovely, Punchard principal, is acting superintendent until Mr. Erickson takes over his new duties.

At the beginning of the meeting, the board had several candidates under consideration for the position. By the time a ballot was called for, the choice had narrowed down to Mr. Erickson and Merrill F. Norlin, principal of the Lexington Junior high school. On the second ballot taken, Mr. Erickson was elected by a decisive majority at a salary of $3800 per year.

The new superintendent has had wide experience in the field of education. He received his bachelorate of science at Bates college in 1928, and his master of education degree from the University of New Hampshire in 1937. From 1928 to 1930, he was a teacher-coach at Newport, N. H., and from 1930 to 1934, sub-master and teacher-coach at Milford, N. H., high school. He was headmaster at the high school in Alston, N. H., and at Milford till 1938.

Supt. Sherman, himself to leave the next day for service as a senior lieutenant in the navy, informed the committee that Donald D. Dunn, supervisor of education in the public schools, has been ordered to report Monday as a member of the Naval Reserve. Since Mr. Dunn had been notified only that evening, no action was taken towards electing a substitute for him.

Howard V. Hennigan, a nephew of Milton C. Blanchard, principal of the Junior high school, was elected teacher of mechanical drawing in the central schools to succeed Miss Mary G. Bailey, recently granted a leave of absence for the duration of the current calendar year.

Chairman Frederick C. Smith of the school committee announced Saturday that he had received the resignation of Rev. Albert C. Morris, who was elected to the board last March. Rev. Mr. Morris has been serving as an army chaplain at Fort Dupont, Delaware, since July, and has been unable to attend a committee meeting since that expected to be taken at the next regular committee meeting on February 3.

of four years. Other officers elected were: Burton S. Flagg, president and treasurer; Edward C. Nichols, vice-president and secretary; Frank L. Brigham, and Herbert H. Veit, vice-presidents; Charles H. Cole, assistant vice-president; and Kenneth A. Churchill, assistant treasurer.

Frederick H. Jones and Edward C. Nichols of Andover were re-elected directors for a four-year term for the Cambridge Mutual. Also elected were: Burton S. Flagg, president; Edward C. Nichols, vice-president and secretary; William E. Burrage, vice-president and treasurer; Frank L. Brigham and Herbert H. Veit, vice-presidents; Charles H. Cole, assistant vice-president; and Kenneth A. Churchill, assistant treasurer.

THE ALL OUT EFFORT

Guild "Go-Getters" To Collect Paper

The Andover Guild "go-getters" are at it again. Your old newspapers, magazines, and paper cartons are what they want to collect from you, and if the way they chased down money for their Rolling Kitchen last year is any criterion, there won't be a shred of paper going to waste in this community.

Mrs. J. Edson Andrews, head of the Women's Committee of the Andover Guild, has just announced that the boys and girls of the Guild, working with the Circle A boys of Phillips Acadmy, are ready and eager to establish a regular collecting service as their part in the defense effort.

The Guild House will be open from 9-12 and from 3-5 six days a week to receive your contributions. If you are unable to bring your papers to the Guild House, telephone Andover 554, and the crew of collectors will call for them at your house on Wednesday afternoons.

Women's Defense School

The canteen squad of the day group of the Women's Defense School cooked the luncheon served this noon to the members of the Women's Union of the South church.

The motor corps of both the day and evening units will meet at Punchard High School Sunday at 1:00 for a four-hour convoy. As is customary, the members of the corps will not know their destination until actually enroute. At the conclusion of the convoy, supper will be served them at the Log Cabin on Prospect Hill by members of the canteen corps. The day group has already experienced several convoys, but Sunday's trip will be the first conducted locally by day and evening groups combined.

Number Plate Drive

Nearly four tons of metal valuable to defense industry was recovered in Andover during the past two weeks in the drive sponsored by the local American Legion Post for the collection of old number plates, according to Past Commander Thomas P. Dea, who was in charge of the drive. Many of the plates came from hobbyists who had been saving them for many years.

Notification has been received from the state headquarters that state trucks will be in Andover to collect the metal, either this week or next. Since all the plates that are to form the collection must be at the bin by this time, garages and townspeople planning to contribute are urged to get their plates in as soon as possible.

Promoted To Major

Word has been received by Mrs. E. C. Edmands from her niece, Mrs. E. L. Tucker of Louisville, Ky., of the promotion of her husband to the rank of major in the U. S. army. Major Tucker has been stationed at Fort Knox for a year, and the family has been living in Louisville during that time. Mrs. Tucker was formerly Miss Eleanor M. Ramsdell of this town.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and wore a white satin gown with beaded embroidery and a long train, and a midway veil caught up with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a white prayerbook with an orchid as marker, and white ribbon streamers fixed with sweet peas.

Miss Antoinette Thiras acted as maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Deyermond, Miss Mariatta Hill and Miss Marion Quinlan.

John Noyes, a friend of the groom, was best man at the ceremony, and the ushers were George Hill, Jerry Langlois and Robert Deyermond.

Educational Life

Adult Education Classes

Beginning January 19th, the Andover School Department will offer services to the non-citizen residents of Andover in filling out and making application for citizenship papers or any other technical difficulties which might arise in the process of their naturalization.

These services are available at the office of Adult Education from 6:30 to 9:30 every Monday evening.

Other classes will be started shortly. Courses in English and citizenship are planned at the Shawsheen, Junior high, Bradlee and North schools, while a class in home nursing began yesterday afternoon at the Junior high school.

Defense Effort

"Blackout preparations under the chairmanship of William J. Young are now being worked out," he added. "While no official authorization has come through from state headquarters as to if and when such blackouts may occur, yet, should they occur, we must be prepared. The people of the town must co-operate strictly with the air raid wardens and with official orders of the Blackout committee and the police department in preparing for a blackout or during a blackout, whether a trial or official. Calmness is definitely emphasized . . ."

At a regional meeting of blackout officers and chairmen at Haverhill last Friday evening, he mentioned, special attention was given to the blackout problem.

"The official signal for a blackout," he added, "shall be the air raid alarm or the extinguishing of the street lights, whichever comes first. The 'all clear' signal shall be the signal for the end of the blackout. Street lights will be extinguished at the yellow warning signal."

Sketching the recent offer by Postmaster John McDonald of the basement of the postoffice as an air raid shelter, he said that, because of the prohibitive cost of sandbagging the building, no action could be taken at this time.

Weekly trials of the Shawsheen Mill siren are being held, he concluded, in an effort to determine whether this one signal can be used for the entire town for an air raid or or blackout signal. If satisfactory, it will be so used; if not, other whistles and sirens will be employed to help spread the alarm.

TOMORROW—"Science Revue" By Dr. Wendt

Bringing science up to date in the public mind is the theme of Dr. Gerald Wendt's lecture at George Washington Hall tomorrow night. Exhibits of new products, experiments with new industrial devices, striking advances in science and invention will be summarized to form a complete "Science Revue for 1942." Dr. Wendt should know whereof he speaks, since he was director of the science and education exhibits at the New York World's Fair, and has high ranking in the fields of science and industry. The lecture will begin at 8:15, and no admission will be charged.

JANUARY 29—Percy Grainger At Academy

Andover music lovers get an opportunity to hear one of the outstanding virtuosos and composers of our day next Thursday evening, when Australian-born Percy Grainger gives a piano concert at George Washington Hall. He appeared with great success all through Europe almost since the beginning of the century, and has been an American citizen since the World War.

Tickets are priced at $2.30, $1.65 and $1.10.

JANUARY 31—For Red Cross, "The Gondoliers"

Gilbert and Sullivan's "Gondoliers" probably never sculled a worthier stream than they will at 8:30 next Saturday night, January 31, for the benefit of the Red Cross War Fund.

The performance is being sponsored by Christ church, and is to be given by the William Lawrence club of Grace church, Lawrence, following their own annual Gilbert and Sullivan production. The club has produced six operettas in past years and won a fine reputation.

Tickets at 44c may be obtained from the Junior Red Cross or from Mrs. Walter Rankin, telephone 52.

FEBRUARY 14—Burns Concert For Servicemen

The annual Burns concert, to be held on Valentine's Day under the auspices of Clan Johnston, the British Empire War Veterans, their auxiliaries and the Arbroath Association, is held this year for a dual purpose. Half the proceeds will be donated to the Red Cross special war relief drive, half will be used in starting a fund for the benefit of the Andover boys in service.

The concert committee has asked the clergymen of the different local churches to administer the fund. Since they have agreed to do this, the entire use of the funds collected will be in their hands, and bundles of material will be sent to the service men from time to time.

It is hoped by the committee that other organizations and private citizens will follow suit to make the fund as large as possible. There are many articles necessary to his comfort which a soldier cannot buy on $21 a month.

The concert committee consists of John McMillan, chairman; Miss Isabelle Greenhow, secretary; Miss Ella Petrie, treasurer; David Wallace, Fred Scott, William Vannett, George Addison, Alexander Duke, Charles Pettes, Mrs. George B. Petrie, Mrs. Raymond Lefebvre and Mrs. Anne Rennie.

Exhibit At Abbot

most conservative to the most modern.

The best example of Mr. Morgan's conservative style, perhaps, is in some—by no means, all—of his religious and landscape work. The incomplete series of seasonal landscapes, for instance, is done in a straightforward pastoral style, with no further meaning than what is contained strictly in the elements of the picture.

Several canvasses, however, are wholly of an abstract nature, and require a good deal of mental co-operation between artist and audience. The meaning of such a canvas as "The Owl," for instance, is not apparent at a glance, and a religious painting of the crucifixion and a study of a dog in his evolution from puppyhood to senility, require considerable study.

Uninformed and strictly amateur art enthusiasts, however, are apt to look with more favor on the strictly orthodox and conservative paintings in the collection. They will probably consider the portrait of an aged charwoman, or the detailed study of a Canadian religious procession, the best of the lot.

Mr. Morgan has been an art instructor at Phillips Academy for the past eighteen months. He has studied at Harvard, and attended academies and modern schools of painting in New York, Paris and Munich. The paintings themselves were executed in Andover, New York, Murray Bay and other parts of Canada, and will be on exhibition until February 24th.

Editorials

S-h-h-h-h!

It's the "They say" time of the year, here in Andover. It's the time of the year when on the street corners and in the drawing rooms one hears the oft-repeated phrase: "Don't tell anyone, but so-and-so told me that—." Following this the usual procedure is for the listener not to tell anyone—except practically everybody he meets between now and town meeting time.

People are again running for office. Some of them have good motives, some aren't so good, but regardless of the candidate's motives, there seems to be no good excuse for launching a gossip field day. The chances are that what "they say" is not too close to the truth, and by the time a lot of people toss the story around, it's liable to be libel. It's really disgusting.

Give the candidates a break. And give Andover a break. Sometimes one wonders why the field of candidates is not a better one; sometimes it's difficult to pick out a man on the ballot who would really do a good job. Don't you suppose one reason why some of the better possibilities in town don't run is that they know that idle tongues will spread stories about them, stories that have absolutely no touch of truth to them?

Let these stories go in one ear and out the other. Don't let them go into the ears of someone else.

Fine Tooth Comb Year

There's a pre-town-meeting custom that becomes very expensive as time goes on. It springs perhaps from a desire not to spend too much time thinking about figures.

What happens is usually this: our citizens, official and non-official, examine a town budget in the light of what has gone before. The emphasis seems to be on only the increases. A careful examination of the additional requests is usually made, but there is very little analysis of the requests that duplicate the previous year's allowances.

Of course the supposition is that last year's budget was all right. Of course it might have been, but the chances are that year by year a few extra increases creep in, and then become permanent, so that the total town budget over a period of years becomes very high. Furthermore, figures that are all right for one year may not be correct for a year in which conditions have changed. Certainly this year items which may have been perfectly all right a year ago would be considered unnecessary this year when the most important thing in life is defeating the foes of liberty.

Every once in a while the fine-tooth comb method of budget examination should be used. This would be a good year to try it.

BALLARDVALE

Hobby Show

The ladies of the Church Service League of the Congregational church have planned for February 4th at 7:30, an exhibit of many different hobbies now being carried on in the Vale. At the same time, a pie social and movie program will be held. No admission will be charged, but a silver collection will be taken.

Persons having an interesting hobby to exhibit should contact Mrs. George Henderson or Mrs. Ernest Edwards by telephone.

Community Association Notes

The next regular meeting will be held on February 2. The next party will be a Valentine party on February 14th, with Mrs. Archie Dumont and her committee in charge. The Association is currently sponsoring an intensive membership drive.

Friendly Guild

An enjoyable evening was spent by the members and guests of the Friendly Guild last Friday in the Union Congregational Church vestry. Rev. Egbert Jenkinson of Lawrence gave an illustrated talk on his trip to Canada and the Pacific coast. Refreshments were served by the hospitality committee headed by Mrs. Arthur Conell.

The next meeting of the Church Service League of the Union Congregational Church will be held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Etta Greenwood.

Mrs. Benjamin Nason suffered a broken arm when she fell at her home on Clark road, Tuesday. She was removed to the Lawrence General Hospital.

Mrs. William Shultz of Andover street was hostess to the Women's League for Christian Service of the Methodist Church on Wednesday evening. Plans were made for the Valentine party to be held soon.

DEATHS

West Parish friends of Mrs. Harold Ramsay will be grieved to learn of the passing of her mother, Mrs. Lora Stout, who died Monday at the Framingham Hospital following a long illness. The funeral was held Wednesday, Rev. Donald H. Savage, rector of the West Church, officiating.

Service Club Hears Talk On Lighting

At its bi-weekly supper meeting this evening, the Andover Service club will hear a lecture by Moorhead Wright, Jr., a representative of the General Electric Company. Mr. Wright will speak on lighting, with emphasis on the fluorescent lamp, a topic which should prove very illuminating in times when electric power is of paramount importance. Police Chief George A. Dane will also speak briefly to the members on the automobile parking problem.

Americans - All Of Them

This week the J. E. Greeley Company has devoted its two large grocery windows to a display of the Patriotic Pantry Party products which are manufactured by the leading independent food concerns in America. There are one hundred and four articles in this display. How did the manufacturers of these items reach the top of the ladder? Well, we'll tell you. In making their products, they devoted their skill not in seeing how cheaply they could produce their products, but how well. No matter how inexpensive an imitation of a good article may be, it is the quality article which will win out in the end.

Please stop and see these one hundred and four items and ask for your certificates on which to write the manufacturers, telling them what you think of their products. It will cost you nothing and you may win a Defense Bond.

Historical Society Plans Lectures On Old Houses

Members of the Andover Historical Society will be interested in a series of four meetings for the discussion of the history of several of Andover's old houses, the first one to take place this Friday evening.

Tomorrow evening, two lectures will be given. Mrs. Charles W. Ward will picture the Nicholas Holt House, built before 1715 on Holt's Hill, her present residence. The story of the Gray homestead, a neighboring farm, dating originally from 1699, will be told by its present occupant, Rev. Arthur Taft, who will tell of its activities in the days when one turned to his neighbor for a live coal or an urgently-needed herb.

League Presents Study Group On Home Management

The Andover League of Women Voters, engaged in the battle of production in recent months, is now lining up in the war against waste. With this in mind, it is beginning a series of three study group meetings, open to all interested women, to be held in the Memorial Hall library every other Friday at 3 o'clock.

The first meeting of the series will be held this Friday, the subject being "Organizing the Household Schedule."

SHAWSHEEN WOMEN'S CLUB

The dramatic department of the Shawsheen Village Women's Club will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:00 at the home of Mrs. Edward Carey of 33 Balmoral street. "The Male Animal" will be read at the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Jackson is acting as co-hostess.

Damage of $29,432.29 was caused by the fire, against total receipts of $29,452.12 in the fire account, for a total balance of $19.83.

Memberships during the past year rose to 859, 25 new members being received, 19 removed, for a net gain of 6.

Other business transacted at the meeting included the reading of reports by the presidents and secretaries of the various church organizations. A list was compiled of all Free church members known to be in the armed forces.

South Church

The duplex collection envelopes, which have proved very successful in their first year of use, will be used again this year. Besides, several of the ladies of the parish are organizing a service exchange, which will form a central agency within the parish in order that those who have services to be performed may easily contact those able to perform them. It was announced that the church membership, during the past year, has increased from 729 to 741.

Mrs. Malcolm McTernan and Mrs. Fred Gould were in charge of the hosts and hostesses at the supper preceding the meeting, which was served under the direction of Mrs. Frank S. Crawford.

News Of Old Andover

50 YEARS AGO. Punchard scholars" were to put on a fair, featuring a sword drill, a play called "The Mistletoe Bough" and a poetry festival... "The copious use of salt and a little water" extinguished a chimney fire at the home of Mrs. John Barry on Morton street. Yellow journalism at its worst... The Essex county commissioners applied to the legislature for a salary increase... A new Boston organization called "the University Club" already had several Andover members... Police Chief Cheever gave permits for lodging to nineteen tramps on a single evening... Many Boston business men were coming to Andover to live, effectually increasing the town's income... Charles Buchan led the Cricket Club's shooting tournament with 421 points. People were talking about constructing a public park on D. C. Richardson's land on Chestnut street, near the Punchard Free School.

25 YEARS AGO. A Bishop Tucker of Kyoto, Japan, advised Christ church members that "Japan has absorbed civilization, commercially and socially." Not the way we understand the word "civilization"... Omar P. Chase, local news dealer, was confined to his home by illness... Prof. Harry E. Fosdick was to preach at the Phillips chapel... The ice was 12 inches thick at Poms Pond, and a local dealer planned to cut it immediately... Ian Hay, British author, was to speak here... The Andover Canoe club planned to construct a canal between Poms Pond and the Shawsheen river... Victor Herbert was currently producing his "Hearts of Erin" in Boston... William M. Wood bought land near Haggett's Pond and High plain road to preserve their beautiful pine groves... Dr. Claude M. Fuess was preparing for publication "An Old New England School"... Admiral Dewey, hero of the first Philippine War, died.

10 YEARS AGO. The Phillips Bulletin said that "but for Phillips and Abbot Academy, Andover would be just another New England village," which bid fair to cause quite a stir... Reading refused to give a dole to any able-bodied, unemployed man, but gave him work on a municipal department instead. That, of course, was a full year before Roosevelt... John F. O'Connell was organizing a local taxpayer's association... An article in the warrant asked for widening of Main street, near Phillips Academy, into a four-lane highway... On the same movie program, you could see John Barrymore in "Mad Genius" and Gaynor and Farrell in "Delicious"... Chief of Police Frank M. Smith was elected president of its relief association... Fred Cheever assumed his new duties as acting postmaster.
